THE AREA

The fine white sandy beaches of Pilar de la Horadada are spread along five kilometres. The quality of these beaches is demonstrated with their Blue Flags. Las Higuercas and Mil Palmeras are two of the most popular beaches in the district. Festivals are held in honour of the Blessed Virgin from September until October. The Floral Tribute is one of the highlights along with the Solemn Mass, the procession and "Las carrozas". Summer festivals start in July and go on for weeks.

Beach beauty fascinating history in equal measure
 The town has been the site of many battles because of its location at the historical frontier between two kingdoms of Murcia (Castilla) and Valencia. After various centuries of agricultural economy, its tourism breakthrough came with its independence from the Orihuela municipal district in 1986. Co-operative societies such as 'Surinver' and 'Teresa Hermanos' use many of the local fields for vegetable growing.
