A good sized family home set on a very central street in the heart of the pueblo .The layout s traditional and typical with a wide double doored entrance hall way leading into a reception room , off to the left there is a ground floor bedroom and back through the reception room a dining room which leads to an eat in kitchen , with a back door out onto a patio.Upstairs there are a further three bedrooms 2 doubles with balconies and built in wardrobes and a smaller single room , a full family bathroom is also located on this level. There is an extra room to the rear that is a little small to make a proper bedroom but it would make a good home office and if you're after more outside space the windows in this room could be converted to French doors and the flat roof of the kitchen below could be converted to a terrace, giving you outside space on each level .Up to the top level and you have a really spacious terrace with excellent views over the village and out to the mountains beyond plus a view up to the oldest part of the village and the walls and towers that enclose it .This home is habitable and just needs a bit of modernization to make the perfect home .Floor Area: 176 MetersBedrooms: 4Bathrooms: 1
