The story of the finca :

To be loved is to be changed.

And this house has lived through it all.

Originally built in 1803 as an authentic finca, Can Terra has witnessed every shift in Ibiza's spirit — from the quiet countryside days to the wild freedom of the '60s, '70s, and the golden age of the hippies.

But by the time we found her, she was barely standing.

Abandoned, broken, and overgrown. Her walls were crumbling, her roof collapsing, and nature had already begun to reclaim what remained. No water. No electricity. Just the bones of something once beautiful.

Still, there was a feeling. A soul in the stone. And we knew: she deserved another life.

Fully restored between 2024 and 2025, she now stands prouder than ever

Can Terra isn't just a house — she's a chapter in Ibiza's story, rewritten with love and intention.
