The house sits on an impressive 1,860 m² plot, offering complete privacy and ample outdoor space. It comprises 230 m² of main living space, and together with auxiliary buildings—such as a pool shower area, storage room, and other storage areas—reaches a total of 406 m² of built area.

The house has four bedrooms, two full bathrooms, and one powder room. The master bedroom features an en-suite bathroom with a shower, creating a private and comfortable space. The layout is designed to maximize cross-ventilation and natural light, thanks to its east-facing orientation, which allows for bright sunrises and pleasant temperatures.

The spacious, separate kitchen offers direct access to the terrace, seamlessly connecting the indoors and outdoors. The living room features an elegant, window-style enclosure, adding a contemporary touch to the home's Mediterranean essence and creating a modern atmosphere without sacrificing character.

Architecturally, the villa reflects the essence of the Mediterranean: a white facade, curved lines, exposed wooden beams, and a carefully curated selection of designer furniture that reinforces its identity. It is an ideal property for those who appreciate wooden architecture, handcrafted details, and understated luxury.

As an added value, the large plot offers the possibility of being divided into two units, allowing the construction of a second independent dwelling, subject to compliance with current urban planning regulations, which makes this property an excellent option for both residential use and investment with development potential.

A unique villa, designed for those who wish to live in a privileged natural environment without sacrificing elegance.
