Can Pastilla a suburb of the capital city Palma de Mallorca, was part of the original tourism boom in Mallorca in the 1960s and 1970s. Consequently, many of the older buildings dating from the middle of the last century originally built for the tourism market are now being repurposed into apartments and larger residential units more suitable for permanent residents. In recent years, Can Pastilla has developed into a rather attractive suburb. The beautiful promenade along the bay of Cala Estancia, the large marina, the main square in at the centre of the suburb, and of course the proximity to Palma de Mallorca with a cycling route and walkway all along the way into the city centre makes the suburb attractive to residents and tourists. With numerous shops, supermarkets, restaurants and cafes, it also offers good infrastructure with good public transport links to the city centre, local schools and health services. It is probably partly due to this that Can Pastilla is one of the few tourist resorts in Mallorca that manages to attract tourists even during the winter months, who enjoy the benefits of its proximity to the capital city as much as the full time residents do.
