

4 soverom Rekkehus til salgs i Villanueva de Algaidas, Málaga

159.000€

This beautiful large 352m² build townhouse sits in the centre of the bustling town of Villanueva de Algaidas, in the Malaga province of Andalucia, Spain, close to all of the local amenities including supermarkets, banks, bars and a medical centre. This property, with a generous town plot of 318m² has a large hallway with a spectacular entrance leading to the first reception room with a stunning marble curved staircase and on to a sitting room at the front of the property. From the main reception room, double doors open to an internal glass covered courtyard area which allows light to flow through the whole downstairs; this also leads to a shower room, a ground floor bedroom, superb dining room and large kitchen with a second stairwell to what would have originally been the servant quarters. Up on the first floor the stunning marble staircase leads to a bright master bedroom at the front of the property with two sets of French doors leading on to the balcony then on to 2 further double bedrooms which look over the central courtyard. To the rear of the first floor are 2 more rooms that are in need of reforming and a second bathroom. This property also benefits from access from 2 streets; the rear access leads in to the back garden which would give room for off road parking. This property is full of original character features including stunning original floors throughout the downstairs and pretty stained glass doors upstairs, the upstairs floor has been replaced with a new concrete floor and unfortunately tiling needs to be replaced. This property is in need of some love to reform to its original glory but could once again be a stunning family home.
