In this post we tell you the reasons why we also believe it. The municipality of Rojales stands out for its rich history and trees. It has a high-level urban hydraulic complex, which is represented by the Alfeitami Mill Weir from the 16th century. As well as La Bernarda Ferris wheel installed on the riverbed, the Charles III Bridge, dating from the 18th century and the Barrio de las Cuevas, where the magnificent constructions used for museums and exhibition halls can be seen. When it comes to nature, Rojales has the Lagunas de la Mata-Torre Vieja, an incredible protected natural area located south of Alicante. In this environment there are two salty lagoons, Torre Vieja
