90.000€

Please do let Zoe know if you are in the uk and would like to meet to discuss any properties we have for sale, and indeed our wonderful area of Andalucia, (depending on location) Follow the link below direct to our website Where to begin with Annie's Corner! Registered as a commercial property the ground floor shop which has faithfully served the needs of local residents for 40 or more years is just the start of it .Through the back of the Annie's Corner shop you have a well built series of rooms spread over 3 floors topped with a roof terrace, the shop owner having his home in another street has only ever used the building for storing goods for the shop, but its wired and plumbed , tiled and plastered and you could easily have a 3 bed 2 bathroom home is a small wash room at the moment on ground floor. That's not forgetting the recent addition, a few years ago the owner purchased a ruined property that adjoined the building and has with architects project demolished the ruin and constructed a new two story build which is at the bruto stage of build and connected to the rest of the property internally on 2 levels. This part of the house was formally owned by Annie Lennox, so you could say 'sweet dreams are made of this' hence the name Annie's Corner. The property for sale is really light and bright throughout with modern windows and doors. Its close to all the amenities and on a street with great neighbours. So maybe if you want a little business and a home , or possibly home with a garage then this could be the place for you. Floor Area: 190 Bedrooms: 3 Bathrooms: 2
