All the rooms of the house open to the outside, which by the ideal orientation to which it is oriented, receive direct natural light.

The entrance to the house is through the hallway. On the left we find the bedrooms. From the entrance of the house you can see the outdoor spaces. On the right we find the living room, the American kitchen and the utility room or laundry. Finally, from the living room and open kitchen, views extend over the valley area and pool; with magnificent insolation thanks to its location.
