

2 soverom Leilighet til salgs i Torrevieja, Alicante

179.900€

A bright home with a sunny terrace and a holiday feel Step into a charming and well-planned home where light floods in from the afternoon and evening sun. This apartment offers a warm and inviting atmosphere from the first step inside, with a smart floor plan that makes the spaces feel larger than the numbers on paper. There are two soothing bedrooms, both with built-in wardrobes that provide plenty of storage and help create a harmonious and orderly home.

The living room is open and sociable, perfect for dinners with friends or quiet evenings in front of a movie. From here you reach the terrace – a private place where you can enjoy the sun from the afternoon and well into the evening. It is the perfect place for a glass of wine, small crops or just to sit and let the day slowly turn into evening. The apartment also has an additional balcony, creating even more opportunities to enjoy the outdoors at home.

This home is located on the second floor of a well-maintained building with an elevator, and is equipped with both air conditioning and individual heating for year-round comfort. You will live comfortably here, regardless of the season.

The residential area offers a lovely communal pool surrounded by green gardens – a place where you can start the day with a swim or relax with a book in the shade of the palm trees. Here, life is simple, comfortable and filled with well-being routines.

This is a home that suits you who are looking for something more than just an apartment – a place where you can live, enjoy and let every day have a little vacation feeling.
