There are homes that do not stand out because they promise everything. They stand out because they make life easier. This one-bedroom apartment in Torrevieja, located in a very central area, is ideal for anyone who values having all amenities close by and being able to get around on foot in daily life. It is just a step away from Parque de las Naciones, one of those places that always adds something extra: for walking, unwinding or simply enjoying the surroundings. The property features an enclosed glazed terrace, a very useful extra space that can be enjoyed all year round: as a reading corner, breakfast area or simply somewhere to relax. It is located in a 2005 building, and one of its strong points is that it is a very quiet building, something people truly value when looking for a home in a central location.
