

4 bedroom Townhouse for sale in Castillo de Locubin, Jaén

52,000€

This is a really big house for the money that with some internal updating would make a great family home. Potentially it could have 4 bedrooms...there are currently 3 on the 1st floor with another room on that floor that also leads onto a terrace. This terrace has lovely views. There is a another terrace on the ground floor off the kitchen. There are also two more rooms there so these could be made into more accommodation or bathrooms etc..The house just has one bathroom as it stands but as there are so many unused rooms you could make more. There is a nice sitting room on the ground floor accessed off the hallway plus a dining room and utility off the kitchen - loads of potential with this property and the structure is fine. You can also access the rear of the property via its own door off the street...so in effect there are two entrances.
