Isla Menores refers to a coastal area located in the Mar Menor region in the province of Murcia, southeastern Spain. Mar Menor is a large saltwater lagoon separated from the Mediterranean Sea by La Manga, a strip of land that stretches along the coastline. Isla Menores is one of the several towns and villages around the Mar Menor.

The Mar Menor is known for its shallow and warm waters, making it a popular destination for water sports and recreational activities. Visitors to Isla Menores can enjoy the beaches, water activities, and the unique environment of the Mar Menor. The region is also recognized for its natural beauty and the presence of various bird species.
