

5 bedroom Villa for sale in Son Veri (Llucmajor), Mallorca

6,000,000€

This wonderful property is nestled in one of the most exclusive and sought-after areas of southern Mallorca, both for its tranquility and privileged location, as well as for having all the necessary services and easy access to Palma, the airport, golf courses, beaches, and more.

The villa is located on the frontline of the coast, with privileged views over the Bay of Palma. The quality of the materials and design make this luxurious house, designed by its first owner in a Danish style with nautical touches, a true living experience. The staircase that distributes the rooms on the first, second, and third floors opens up to the entire house, which revolves around this central element. Wood, steel, natural stone, and glass come together as the elements that form the essence of this villa.

It offers open and spacious areas that flow into one another, with high ceilings, southwest orientation, and large windows. Its two master suites and the upper living room visually connect with the Mediterranean Sea, as if cruising the bay on a 1950s liner. Three other generously-sized bedrooms and three main bathrooms complete the property, along with the ground-floor living room with a fireplace and a cozy kitchen with an island that opens to the dining room.

Its exterior and architectural design are inspired by La Seu, the Cathedral of Palma, with a series of arches on its maritime facade that give the property an imposing appearance that can be easily distinguished from the sea. The arches rest on a pond that leads to the garden and the 64 m² pool. Large awnings, like sails on a boat, unfold between the arches with a pulley and rope system to provide shade to the main facade during the sunniest hours, which are plentiful in this house.
