

1 bedroom Country House for sale in Alora, Málaga

139,900€

This is the ideal buy for someone who wants to do some serious farming! The land is currently used for olives and cereal crops, but would lend itself to any form of agriculture or livestock. As a bonus, it enjoys some of the most beautiful views you could wish for. On the property there is a small house with an open plan living/kitchen area with open fire and a shower room, with one very large bedroom upstairs. Given the size of the land it should be possible to extend the current property with the appropriate licences. Certainly, stables and agricultural buildings would not be a problem. There is an original stone corn thrashing floor near the house and 2 wells, one of ancient stones and the other more recent, with a plentiful water supply. The property has 2 escrituras, so it could be segregated if the new owner does not want/need all the land. The house also has a 1st occupation licence, so no problems if a mortgage is needed. ref:APN6274
