Cueva La Paz in Fuentenueva (Orce)

Cueva La Paz is a charming, unattached, rustic cave home with tons of character. There is a large front patio with views of the Sierra Maria mountains plus a private walled side patio. This cave house can be easily converted into a main cave and a guest house or holiday rental/B&B.

The property is located in Fuente Nueva, a peaceful hamlet of the historic village of Orce. The beautiful stone facade of the cave house preserves the authentic character of Fuente Nueva's traditional architecture.

The gated patio is partially shaded with conifers and native vegetation. There is a patio water tap, and space for a small vegetable garden. Parking is at the entrance of the patio.

Above the cave is a plot of land that could be used for the construction of a garage or a terrace.

Interior of the house

The main entrance leads directly into a central living room, full of character with a fireplace, built-in shelves and traditional polished concrete floors. To the right is an eat-in country kitchen, a large pantry and a bathroom with a shower and separate toilet.

Across from the main entrance is the door to 2 bedrooms. The front bedroom is a walk-through that can be a dressing room/sitting room/office, followed by the back double bedroom with space for a built in wardrobe.
