

2 спальная комната Деревенский Дом продается в Antequera, Málaga

129.000€

This Chalet style, Cortijo property sits around a 15 minute drive from Historical Antequera and all of its amenities and just a short 5 minutes drive to the town of Villanueva de Concepción, in the Malaga province of Andalucia, Spain. The property itself is perfectly habitable but needs some updating and the current owner has in place a building licence and architects plan for suggested work. The property has mains water and electric along with a septic tank for waste. Inside the property it currently offers a good size lounge, two bedrooms, a bathroom and kitchen with an open fireplace. The property has a driveway that leads up to the property giving plenty of off road parking and the land continues to wrap around the property and up the mountain giving spectacular views across to the Torcal mountains and beyond. The property also comes with a plot of land to the front which the current owner has been landscaping making it into an accessible garden complete with over 15 types of fruit trees and a vegetable garden. This property really could be amazing having a generous total plot size of 6,350m<sup>2</sup>.
